

March/April 2017 Omega Newsletter

Hello everyone!

Hope this newsletter finds April showers at a minimum with sunny days in their place.

Just a quick reminder that our March program has been rescheduled for May - many thanks to Jan Astles and our presenter Jane Falwell for being flexible in order to make this happen.

Executive is all looking forward to our April program. We're blessed to have Sally Maxson's grandson presenting a musical medley. This is Zachary's senior year at Victor High School, and next year he plans on studying Music Education at SUNY Fredonia. In school he is a freshmen mentor, the Drum Major of the Victor Marching Blue Devils, and an active member of a community service club. In addition he is a member of National Honor Society, Tri-M Music Honor Society, the Wind Ensemble and Sr High Chorus. He is currently working on a production of the musical Side Show, and just closed a production playing Prince Eric in The Little Mermaid. Music will always be a very important factor in his life, and he is excited for what the future will bring him. We have a very proud grandmother in our midst and I totally understand why!!!

Another reminder - if you are planning on attending the Pi State conference April 28-30 in Cooperstown you can find a reservation form on line in the winter edition if Pi Lights or email me and I'll forward one to you. Looks like a great conference with plenty of interesting workshops for all tastes!

Don't forget to bring books for the Little Red Book Shelf project.
